

The best when it really matters

Trend Micro Titanium Internet Security 2011 ■ You may find another security suite with more features, but Titanium will give you the best protection.

Trend Micro has taken a radical step by naming their products so that they actually stand out from everything else on the market. The product range that targets home and small office users is called Titanium.

The security suite has a wide range of features, which are all easily accessible through the intuitive user interface. The main window shows the protection status, and contains only a few large buttons. These buttons will take you to the search feature, the settings and to a detailed log.

Needless to say that you will also get components such as antivirus, spam filter, firewall and browser plugins (Internet Explorer, Firefox, and Chrome). Furthermore, there are Parental Controls and a feature called Data Theft Protection, which protects your valuable data.

The Parental Controls make it easy to monitor how long a computer stays online, and also allows you to supervise Web activities. The standard settings make it really easy to create profiles for different age groups.

The Data Theft Protection feature is easier to use than any other we have ever experienced. Simply enter the information you want to protect, and the program will prevent this information from being sent over the Internet. Even with a protected credit card you can still shop online. The solution is easy to manage by simply entering exceptions for the websites you trust.

The extra features included are not as sophisticated as those in the Symantec or Kaspersky suites, but they in turn cannot beat Titanium's core features. Titanium Internet Security provided protection against all threats. 100 percent of all threats were actually blocked before they even reached our hard drive. We could download and install other programs without the software interrupting us. We were stopped as soon as we tried to access an infected website. In other words: the perfect protection.

If you need a lot of extra tools, you may consider a Symantec or Kaspersky suite, but if you're looking for the best protection, nothing compares to this suite, our test winner.

Plus Intuitive user interface. By far the best protection.

Minus Nothing.

Recommended for Anyone who is not in need of all the extra tools included in other suites.
